The aim of the study is to start from the perspective of financial integration, study the specific process of financial integration after merger and acquisition and evaluate its performance, summarize the successful experience of Geely's merger and acquisition of Volvo integration, so as to provide reference and advice for the financial integration of other enterprises' merger and acquisition.

In order to achieve the above stated goal, the following objectives have been developed:

- defined the concept of the M&A, M&A integration, Financial integration and performance appraisal;
- showed the process of Geely's merger and acquisition of Volvo;
- studied the comprehensive analysis of financial indicators;
- conducted an analysis of the financial integration ability of Geely;
- provided reference and advice to other enterprises for financial integration about merger and acquisition.

Object of the research: the company “Geely” and its financial integration strategy.

Subject of the research: study the specific process of financial integration after merger and acquisition and evaluate its performance.

Research methods: uses the square analysis method combining theory and case. First, it makes a complete analysis of the theory. Then, relying on the case analysis method, it selects the case of Geely's acquisition of Volvo as the research object to analyze the process of financial integration after the acquisition. Then, the performance of financial integration is analyzed by using financial indicators, and the experience of financial integration is summarized at last.

Realm of the possible practical application: the suggestions can provide reference for other merger and acquisition parties in financial integration.

The author of the paper confirms that the computational and analytical material provided in the thesis reflects the state of the process under investigation correctly and objectively, and all theoretical, methodological and methodical provisions and concepts are referenced to their authors.
